

Drama

Homework Project.

- You have been given the title of a new play; 'Finding Answers'
- The play does not exist, so any decisions about characters, scenes, scripts or designs are all coming from your imagination and interpretation of the title.
- You are going to take on the role of one of the following: Writer, Performer, Set-Designer, Costume-Designer or Marketing Director.

Writer

- Create a short script for one scene from the play 'Finding Answers'.
- Include as many characters as you wish, and it can be in any genre of your choice.
- Make sure to give plenty of guidance about who your characters are, and include stage-directions so that it could be followed by any performer.
- If you would like any example scripts to help, see Mr Fisher.

Performer

- Create a performance of a short scene from the play 'Finding Answers'.
- You can have as many people as you want working on this, but make sure that each performer in your group has a significant role in the scene.
- If you would like to use SCH2 at any point to put this together or rehears, see Mr Fisher to book the space.

Set-Designer

- Create a set from any scene from 'Finding Answers'.
- Your design could be shown through one of three different ways; a hand-drawn and labelled set design, a set-design created on a computer with labels, or a 3-D model of a set. (See the examples section)
- If you need any assistance or any materials, see Mr Fisher

Costume-Designer

- Create 2 costume designs for characters from 'Finding Answers'
- You could create these one of two ways; create a hand-drawn/computer collage of costume for 2 character that you design, or create a 3-D image on paper/card of you designs using fabric/materials (See examples)
- Make sure to label your designs so whoever sees it can clearly see your decisions and why you made them
- Any assistance or materials, see Mr Fisher

Marketing Director

- It is your job to create the marketing material for the new play 'Finding Answers'
- You can create one of the following, or more; Posters, Leaflets, Tickets, TV/Online advertisements, Trailer.
- You are open to do this however you want, be creative with it.
- For any assistance or materials, see Mr Fisher

Success Criteria

- Be creative, think outside the box.
- Think about your presentation skills.
- Consider who your target audience is for your play, who do you want to come and see this piece?
- Take on the role of someone in the theatre that you may not have explored before

If you have any questions about anything from this exciting task, come and see Mr Fisher.

DEADLINE: 29th June 2018

Good luck and have fun exploring!
